

Kim Brown

New Consultant Development

As the in house Consultant Recruiter on the NAVIX team, Kim Brown is responsible for growing our national network of independent exit planning Consultants. In addition to recruiting, Kim also provides day to day operational support to the CEO including schedule management, coordination of logistics for speaking engagements and providing post-event follow-up with prospective clients.

Prior to joining NAVIX Consultants, Kim worked at several notable Atlanta based companies as an accountant and a recruiter for accounting and finance professionals. After a rewarding stint as a stay at home parent, Kim continued working in recruiting and administration.

Kim graduated from the University of Central Florida with a Bachelors of Business Administration in Accounting. She moved to Atlanta after graduation where she met her husband Erik. Kim and Erik now live in Marietta, Georgia where they are raising their three children. Outside of work, Kim is a fitness enthusiast. When not exercising, Kim volunteers in her children's schools having served in numerous capacities including Vice President on the school foundation board of directors and booster club Treasurer. Kim and her family also enjoy being outside together hiking, biking, and most of all skiing.
