

Greg Hutcheson

Greg Hutcheson is a Senior Analyst on the NAVIX team. As such, Greg is responsible for assisting NAVIX Consultants as they work with their clients through the NAVIX process. Greg has spent most of his career in the financial services industry, spending over a decade with TD Ameritrade and Fidelity clients and eventually serving as a TD Ameritrade Branch Manager and member of the internal consulting team. Greg then moved into external consulting focusing on Lean Six Sigma process improvement, working in manufacturing, logistics, airlines, and financial services.

Greg received his bachelor's degree from Coastal Carolina University in History and his MBA from Georgia Tech.

Greg is a native of Roanoke, Va., but now lives in Decatur, Georgia, with his wife Nicole and three boys William, Benjamin, and Max. He is active with the local schools volunteering for various activities and serving as the Venetian pool facilities Chair.

Greg enjoys attending his children's sporting activities, and in his spare time cooking on his Big Green Egg and making craft cocktail bitters
